

Tension along the Rope

Solution:

The correct answer is b.)

The essential difference between the two is that the knot which the weight is attached to can not move, while pulley can. Also note in the picture that the weight is suspended off center between two springs.