

Through or not

Solution:

The correct answer is a.)

A common misconception is that the hole will shrink because material expands into the hole. However, every linear dimension of an object changes in the same way when the temperature changes. The following illustration helps. Imagine the hole does not exist; or alternatively, consider an extreme case that the ring becomes a loop of strip of negligible thickness.

